

Wireless Electro-Magnetic Radiation (EMR) Statement

I have had the opportunity to watch children's behavior and sleep patterns improve when EMR wireless devices and WiFi were removed from the children's environment. I have seen in an adult middle-aged woman, a facial rash clear up after shutting off the WiFi router in her home. I have seen a reduction in anxiety as well as relief from headaches in four adult women of various ages when they moved out of areas with a lot of wireless devices. One woman moved from an apartment building that had several smart wireless utility meters for the building as well as WiFi. It is obvious from the various studies and microwave expert, Barrie Trower that the harmful effects of EMR are indisputable.

Sincerely, Mary Baenen, Homeopath